

What's happened @ CMO

Volunteer medical caravan brings vital care to villages

UltraLime results

In July and August, we collectively walked, ran, and hiked 6 741,65 kilometres.

1 month left to go so let's make it count!

On August 29 and 30, 2025, Carmeuse Mauritania, with NGO (and long-term partner) SOS Diabetes, organized a medical caravan to the villages of Wapounde and Thide near Bogue. This initiative brought together 12 nurses and, an impressive, 28 doctors, all volunteering their time and equipment to deliver much-needed medical care to the region.

Over two days, the team provided 517 medical consultations – including ophthalmology, paediatrics, general medicine, and gynaecology – while also running awareness campaigns on malaria and diabetes. Essential supplies were distributed, with 550 hygiene kits and 250 mosquito nets reaching local families. Volunteers worked tirelessly from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., assisting in three challenging births and seeing patients, some of whom had waited over a year to see a doctor.

SOS Diabetes ensured all volunteers were well-fed, while a local mayor arranged accommodation – free of charge. The event concluded with a detailed report, which will be presented to local government officials to advocate for improved healthcare access in the area. Unsurprisingly, this impactful initiative was featured in the local news!

News from around our globe

- China: Carmeuse Trading & Services China is officially open and ready for business!
- Ghana: Kenneth Danso and TerraCalco Ghana will be exhibiting at the West Africa Agri Show. CLP also received a citation for outstanding community work.
- Tunisia: Nine families have been assisted with back-to-school support.
- Senegal: At the request of the local community, CMS has been helping young job seekers prepare for the workforce through skills development workshops. Next up: public speaking!
- Côte d'Ivoire: The team was honoured with a Golden Palm Award from the regional prefect for their commitment and unwavering support for national education.

Carmeuse Côte d'Ivoire celebrates excellence

Desego Sandy Samira, the region's top baccalaureate student, receives a brand-new laptop and gift voucher, sponsored by Carmeuse Côte d'Ivoire.

Meet our interns in Zambia

Yvette Brown is a computer systems engineering graduate with a passion for technology and innovation.

"This experience has been invaluable, allowing me to apply theoretical knowledge in a real-world setting and gain hands-on industrial experience. I'm excited to continue learning and growing."

Benny Muyumba is an intern in electrical and electronics engineering.

"Working under CMO has been inspiring, especially given its global presence and commitment to innovation. I am excited to be part of a team that values creativity, teamwork, and professional development."

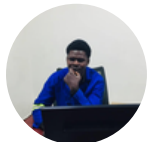

Chris Katema holds a diploma in science laboratory technology.

"During my internship, I've been exposed to critical laboratory equipment like disc mills, Carbon Hydrogen Sulphur Determinator, TGA (thermogravimetric analyser), bomb calorimeters, and much more."

Future Lumpa is a mechanical engineering student at Mulungushi University.

"It has been a great experience as I get to learn hands-on mechanical work. I've been with CMO for a month now and appreciate the company's focus on safety and its positive work culture."

Joseph Matakala holds a diploma in purchasing and supply chain management.

"I have found CMO and Handyman's Lime to be a welcoming environment with very accommodating people who are willing to teach. If offered a job, I would gladly accept."